It is your responsibility to abide by all of the rules and regulations issued by our Health Department and the State Fire Marshall.

Food vendors are responsible for paying Virginia Sales Tax. A form will be included in your registration packet.

License plate numbers of all your vehicles are required to register for your site.

Only your food service vehicle or tent is allowed at your site. Any other vehicles need to be moved to Parking Lot 2.

All exhibitors and food vendors who provide food samples or food for consumption must provide hand sanitizer for their customers.

Due to increased bear and wildlife activity and sightings we are asking all vendors that sell food or aromatic items to ensure proper secure storage of all food and other items at nighttime. Storage should be air tight and secure so that wildlife will not be able to access the container. A vehicle or trailer is the most effective storage. Lockable coolers or lockable heavy storage containers are typically suitable also. Any food items left out in the open risks attracting wildlife and may result in destruction of the items or storage. Neither the Art League of Marion nor Hungry Mother State Park will be responsible for any damage caused by wildlife.

Please use large signage to advertise your food items. A small chalkboard is not very effective. Customers need to know what items are for sale at your booth. Prices must be displayed. You may also want to include ingredients and/or nutritional information about items for health-conscious patrons. Menu changes must be approved by the Art League of Marion.

Dumping Tanks for dirty water are located at the Discovery Center at the entrance to the park and at Camp Burson. (Same disposal that is used for RV's.)

A special dumpster for grease disposal and dumpster for trash disposal are located at the side of the Event Center. A hose for water is located at the back of the Event Center.

If extension cords are used, please address potential safety/tripping hazards.

Ice can be purchased from Hungry Mother State Park at the Event Center.
